

INDIANS TRIM GRIFFS AS BOYS-AMERICAN TENNIS FINALIST

Tribesmen Hammer Johnson, Trimming Nationals 9 to 2

By JACK NYE.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 18.—The popular theory in baseball circles that Walter Johnson is unbeatable when he is "right" was exploded today by the cunning Indians.

The big speed-ball artist never looked better than when he entered the box against the league leaders. The same old burning smoke of past years was in evidence. For four innings he made the Indians look foolish, allowing but two infield hits, one of a very questionable nature. Then the enemy fell upon him in the fifth and hammered him for five runs and six hits, forcing his retirement and copping the game by the ultimate score of 9 to 2.

Hitting First Ball.

The manner in which the victory was won is a tribute to the baseball brains of Tris Speaker and his hustling gang. They were in much the same dilemma as was Bre'r Rabbit when Bre'r Fox was hot in his trail, when he is "right" was exploded today by the cunning Indians. Speaker climbed a tree; when reminded that rabbits do not indulge in such practices, his terse explanation was that "he was blessed to be." The Indians felt that they were "blessed" to beat the Griffs, despite Johnson's form, and that's what they did.

Obtain Eleven Hits.

The secret was that after waiting and allowing Barney to keep them in the hole for four rounds, the Indian batsmen, acting upon instructions from Manager Speaker, changed their method of attack and began to hit the first ball pitched six hits in the fifth were made on the first ball offered by Johnson. The strategy worked and another scalp dangled from the Indians' belt today.

After the fifth it was easy sailing for the tribesmen. They gathered a total of eleven hits, three of which were made off Zachary, who succeeded Johnson. Speaker nicked Jazebel Tecumseh for a homerun in the seventh when his drive to center went through Sam Rice's legs and rolled to the fence. Evans found him for a triple in the eighth, the ball rolling to deep left.

Caldwell in Form.

Slim Caldwell occupied the mound for leaders and, though the Indians were touched for two runs in the first four rounds, grew better the further he traveled and finished strong. Several times the Griffs had him in a hole, but he received snappy support on such occasions. An evidence of this came in the eighth when Milan walked and Rice doubled. Calvo was substituted for the crippled Zeb and the time seemed ripe for a rally, but Chapman took in Shank's line drive and doubled Senor Jack at third, bringing to an end the last hope of the men of Griffs.

A total of seven hits was the result of the Griffs' stickwork, and only in one inning did two come together.

Johnson's Error Helps.

Doe Johnston's error on Judge's rap in the first round helped the Nationals to register their first score. Milan sacrificed, in Rice doubled to right, bringing Joe across the pan. In the third the Griffs put a man on third and second with one out, but couldn't get a score. Judge bounced a hit off Johnston's shins.

Juvenile Tourney For Racqueters Starts Monday

The youngsters of Washington will get an opportunity to show their wares as tennis players, starting Monday, on the Columbia County Club courts, when the District of Columbia junior and boys' championship tournament in singles and doubles, as well as the girls' singles, will be gotten under way. Play will start at 3:00 o'clock.

This event is under the auspices of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association, and the Columbia Club is offering the use of its excellent courts in order to encourage play among the young element.

For the juniors, boys under 19 on February 1 are eligible, while boys under 16 on that date are eligible for the boys' event. Doubles events will be decided in both classes. Entries should be sent to Bryan Morse, care of the Washington Times, Munsey Building, the entry fee being 25 cents in the singles and 50 cents for doubles teams.

Winner to Forest Hills.
The winners of the titles are eligible to represent Washington at Forest Hills, L. I., in the national junior and boys' singles and doubles championships.

This year's event is being staged earlier than was that of 1919 in order to take care of the many scholastic players returned to the city, and also in view of the fact that the Washington schools, closing this week, will release many players who are now in top form.

Notes of the Game

Cleveland, Ohio, June 18.—Milan made several difficult catches, despite his burn leg which made running painful. In the second inning Hank Shanks made flashy catches of foul flies off the bats of Johnston and Wamby. He also started a fast double play in the eighth. Manager Speaker received a floral design on his first trip to the plate as a token of esteem for the manner in which the Indians trounced New York. It was a pretty fair day at the bat for Spoke, with a single, a double and a home run to his credit.

Shannon not only gathered a couple of hits, but made a sparkling stop and throw on Smith's grounder over second in the fourth, getting his man at first by a close margin. Fans in Cleveland are allowed to pocket every ball that comes into the staves, which is a hint for some other moguls seeking more popularity.

Snyder or Erickson will work tomorrow, while Speaker will probably send Steve Covelier against the Griffs.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

Miss Muffins.
Shoot the whole wide right back on this good ally. She'll romp home on the front end of the procession. I know that Jack Keene, one of the cleverest men that ever rigged a thoroughbred for a race, thinks this is one of the best fillies in the country. He's confident that she will top today and the Lexington crowd is stringing along with him. That's good enough for me. Believe Idle Hour is next best and should drop into the second hole without much effort, with Jacobina and Gossip Avenue fighting it out at the end for the "peep" money. All this happens in the fifth at Death Valley" this afternoon.

In the day's opener I fancy the chance of Rapid Day slightly better. A big commission was planted over night on the McLean nag, which makes it look better. Bradley's Choice may find the route a trifle too short. A. N. Akim and Portlight will be knocking at the door. Judge Prior is the "class" in the second. All he needs is a snug ridge in order to come down to "pric" with all the money. Billy Barton has not raced to best private form yet. Tab him closely. St. Donard is a sleeper from Sleepersville.

Mysterious Girl is the clocker's special. Should be at juicy odds and will take a world of beating. Bull will carry the proverbial ton of wise Eastern money. He has not been shown up yet. Dodge may find the route just a trifle too short.

Here's where we yank another piler out of the old brine barrel. Today it's Midway. To much chatter has been known to cut the price, so all I'll say is that he's ready, the checks are riding and only a world on tuff backs will beat him. "Nuff said. Be Frank and Drastic figure next bet. Marauder looks to have the closing number already won.

Few Old Faces Will Be Seen on American Team

By JAMES E. (TED) MEREDITH.

New York, June 18.—Few of the old familiar faces will be seen on the team which will represent this country in the track and field events at Antwerp this year. A glance at the list of names of the men who have loomed up as possibilities for the team this year discloses the fact that men who claimed the stage eight years ago have gradually fallen out of the game and that in nearly every event the men who will do the scoring have been developed in recent years.

There are still some of the old timers in the game, notably among the weight throwers, who are ready to repeat their fine work of former years, but for the most part the men who brought this country to the fore in Stockholm have hung up their shoes. Eight years is a long time for athletes to stay at the top of their form. They either get tired of the game or outgrow their athletic usefulness.

The same can be said of the men who stood out as stars in the other countries, but they, excepting the Scandinavian countries, have been handicapped in developing new men due to the four years they were in the war.

Three of the greatest athletes of the 1912 games have been claimed by death, Ralph Rose, our giant shot-putter from California; George Tsiligrakis, of Greece, the standing broad jump winner, and Jean Bouin, the winner of the 1,500 meter race, who was killed in one of the first battles of the war.

England lost her greatest runner of the Stockholm meet, Arnold Jackson, the winner of the 1,500 meter race. He was put out of the game by wounds received during the war.

GRIMM'S WILD THROW GIVES GIANTS BATTLE

New York, June 18.—Grimm's wild throw to second in the fourth inning of today's game between the Giants and Pirates permitted the Giants to score with the winning run.
